Document Management for the shipping industry

Fact Sheet

Documents SE

Allowing you to collaborate effortlessly and securely with team members inside your organisation.

Ask yourself the following #### questions...

Do I want to share and manage content knowledge across my organisation and vessels to empower teamwork?

Do I want to quickly find information, and seamlessly distribute new and revised content across the fleet? If the answer is yes, Documents SE is the solution you've been looking for.

The power of harnessing collective knowledge

You can share newly created documents, IMO circulars, safety flashes, or even manufacturers' manuals for shipboard equipment across your organisation. Customise templates to streamline the format of any documentation so that everyone working on different documents can make use of common themes, including the look and feel. Leaving you able to take complete control using document variables that dynamically update content on the document. This solution allows you to collaborate effortlessly and securely with team members inside your organisation. Build cohesion and inform your office colleagues as well as seafarers throughout your intranet. Documents SE is built specifically for the unique marine operating environment - seafarers who are on leave and are scheduled to join one of your vessels can be given access in a click to read the policies and procedures as applicable to them before joining, ensuring an increase in competency onboard your vessels.

The power of AI for search

Shipnet's latest feature in Documents SE introduces an innovative AI search capability, transforming the way shipping organisations manage and access their documents. With this feature, users can upload their own documents, which are meticulously scanned, indexed, and stored within the system. The AI-powered search function then empowers users to retrieve relevant content in contextualised ways, providing answers to queries such as best practice procedures and examples for communication with crew members.

What sets this feature apart is its unparalleled accuracy and reliability, ensuring that users receive precise information every time. Moreover, each piece of retrieved content is accompanied by linked citations, allowing users to seamlessly refer back to the original document for full approval and validation, thus ensuring compliance and maintaining the integrity of the documentation process.

Your Al Assistant is always ready to help

In addition to the powerful AI search functionality, Shipnet's Documents SE introduces an AI Assistant, representing the next evolution in document management solutions.

With the Al Assistant, users can effortlessly leverage the system's capabilities to generate summaries of their findings. Whether it's drafting memos, crafting fleet circulars, or generating reports, the Al Assistant streamlines the process with unparalleled accuracy and efficiency.

By simply requesting Documents SE to summarise their findings, users can transform complex information into concise and actionable insights at the click of a button. This reliable and time-saving feature not only enhances productivity but also ensures consistency and compliance across all communication channels within the organisation, making it a valuable asset for shipping companies striving for operational excellence.
